

ABSTRACT

When, according to the invention, a sealing sleeve is made of HNBR polymer and is provided with a bushing (3) which extends around the outwardly extending shaft (1), and also with an end portion (6) which may be bellows- shaped and finally an outer ring (7) which can engage the exterior of the shaft housing (6), a solid and tight sleeve is achieved.